#Putin

- vows to increase salaries and pensions of Russians despite facing crippling economic sanctions imposed by the West
- this adjustment will see a temporary boost to inflation and unemployment (did not use the word "transitory")
- USA & EU have effectively declared default to Russia
- Myth of western well-being is crumbling, West is facing rising energy costs
- West wants to dismember Russia, but it will not succeed
- West's actions are similar to anti-Semitic pogroms in Germany in 1930s (yes, he went there!)
- We do not want to occupy Ukraine
- Our army thwarted Ukraine's plans to attack Crimea and Donbass (Russia has released official documents showing Ukraine was planning an attack on Donbass in March 2022)

Un reportaje de Nervio - Invierno en el Donbass - Ucrania.

En 2014 y 2015 estuvimos grabando las consecuencias del conflicto ucraniano en las regiones del Donbass. Una guerra imprevisible en la que, como en todas las guerras, quienes sufren los peores efectos son los civiles.

RUSSIA vs UKRAINE, Part II: If we had a true honest media in this country, then you would understand the history/context that provoked Russia to invade Ukraine. Their motivations are clear as they have been talking about NATO expansion and the threat it poses to them for decades. Our leaders would not listen or negotiate, so they took action. As I try to bring context to this issue I am even being shouted down as a Russian propagandist (which is laughable). Please keep an open mind...

Please realize, Russia has the 2nd most powerful military in the world and they have 1/3rd of the nuclear warheads. If we don't understand their perspective and what led them to invade, and if we keep ratcheting up the rhetoric and conflict ("No Fly Zone over Ukraine")— we could soon see the world vanish in a nuclear holocaust. The situation is truly serious.

The history and perspective of the Russian Government is this: US/NATO are Russia's historic enemy. Continued NATO encroachment is their current 'Cubin Missile Crisis'—it is now or never to stop NATO pushing up closer to Russia/Moscow. During the fall of the Soviet Union, NATO leaders gave verbal assurance that NATO would not expand eastward to Russia's border, but it has, with two big tranches of countries joining in 1999 and 2004. Russia was opposed to all but swallowed the bitter pill.
