Myron Samila — if people's lives are important to you, you will negotiate with anyone. Territory is secondary. Zelensky does not care about people's lives and suffering. It seems that you also care about some of your fantasies, but not about people and their suffering. Besides, Russia never wanted Ukrainian lands. The security of its territory is important to Russia, as it is to other countries. The security of each country is a condition for overall stability. If you don't care about the security of another country, you don't care about the security of your own country.

It seems that a large part of the weapons from Ukraine went to Hamas. I have no idea how Putin contributed to this.

Arnas Bebrauskas — yes, Putin asked Jonas Ohman, and that Zelensky, to transfer the weapons intended for Ukraine to HAMAS through Turkey. Well, maybe Putin is not needed here, maybe Ohman is not needed either. So what kind of leader are you at "IT MAX" if you don't get caught up in elementary things? Rather, you are a victim of primitive propaganda.

Alexandra McCarthy, it's not quite the case that the Middle East conflict is a completely different cup of tea. Russia is fighting for its security, just like Israel and Palestine. Only Ukraine is fighting for US interests. In all cases, only peace can ensure the safety of all. However, the processes are regulated by interest groups that thrive on conflict.

By the way, both Jews and Palestinians are Semitic peoples originating in the Middle East. Quote: "Archaeologic and genetic data support that both Jews and Palestinians came from the ancient Canaanites, who extensively mixed with Egyptians, Mesopotamian, and Anatolian peoples in ancient times. Thus, Palestinian-Jewish rivalry is based in cultural and religious, but not in genetic, differences."

Myron Samila — in Lithuania, about six months ago, people were also asked who owns Crimea. Now there are no more such crazy questions. Apparently, those who asked similar questions ended up in mental hospitals, so it's quiet here now. It is possible that this wave will pass in Canada as well.)

Myron Samila — I suggest you descend from the clouds of propaganda onto a firmer footing. On September 30, 2022, Zelenskiy passed a decree that negotiations with Putin (that is, with Russia) are impossible. Maybe Zelensky was told by narrow interest groups to wait until Russian society gives up its security, but rather he himself will be gone next year.

Myron Samila — first of all, you are lying — Putin never said "Ukraine does not exist - it is not a country". It is impossible to debate with liars. Second, territory is more important to you than people's lives. Third, if territory is important to you, then get off the couch and go die for territory. Why should others, not you, suffer instead of being able to live, work and raise children wherever they live? Finally understand that you are a victim of propaganda whose values have collapsed. I wish you to return to your true values and stop lying to yourself and others.

It is too early to celebrate the victory of the opposition in the Polish parliament, because democracy is a perfect machine for polarizing society. That will have to be seen soon, and especially after these elections in Poland.

As for Belarus, there is nothing to be sad about if the coup d'état failed in this country. It is unlikely that something similar could be repeated in the future - too many good lessons have been learned by the Belarusian authorities.
