How little common sense, and how much ordinary racism I see in the most comments under this post. It's unbelievable. All these bans will do is redistribute capital. Technically, traveling and living in Western Europe the Russian tourists just support the local small business and get an idea of European values, exchange experiences and best practice. If you believe that you are helping Ukraine by killing the EU economy, you need to learn logic and world economics better.

Today they announced the liberalization of the visa regime for entry into Russia by the way. It's a good time to discover this beautiful country and get to know the Russian people better without the MSM brainwashing. To be a tourist in the EU is not a fundamental right and is not a privilege. This is just one of the way to discover new cultures and share experience. And by the way, why do only the residents of poor countries, where Russian tourists usually do not spend their vacations, write about the privileges. No one comment from the Switzerland, or Austria, or Denmark.. What is this privilege about? 🤔

While the Western politicians are trying to cancel Russia, the people of Donbas are making their choice. I know the situation in eastern Ukraine very well. The Russian city where my parents live is located in 190 km from Donetsk and 80 km from Lugansk. A lot of refugees from Donbass have been living near my parents and relatives since 2014, working in schools, hospitals, factories. A lot of well educated people. A year ago, when I have had severe COVID and I have happily occurred in Russia, I was nursed by a nurse from Lugansk, who gave me a second birth and became my angel. Today I see these happy, open, beautiful people and I am very happy for them at this great day. I have no doubt that as a result of the referendum, they will return under Russia's protection. Russia has been through a very difficult historical path. But over the last 20 years I have seen the development of this great country. There will be hard times ahead, but I truly believe in the future of Russia. Donbass, welcome home.

Link for anyone interested in Ukraine's modern political history. An insightful documentary from Oliver Stone / Igor Lopatonok made in 2016, but still actual for understanding agenda. Sorry that the world is a lot more complicated and nuanced than CNN or Fox newsrooms. Link to documentary: <https://lnkd.in/dBxaxZW>

Rumble @rumblevideo

BREAKING NEWS: YouTube removed @TheOliverStone's documentary, "Ukraine on Fire." We believe the public should decide what it sees, not Google execs. We're proud to announce the producers uploaded the film to Rumble, enabling anyone who wishes to view it

Saturday morning

Anna Netrebko, the Russian opera singer. Contracts with her were terminated by the Metropolitan Opera, das Opernhaus Zürich, Berliner Staatsoper Unter den Linden. The reason - she said that she is Russian and she loves her country, she sympathizes with the Ukrainian people, but she refused to make her political views public and insult her homeland..
In any case, there are wonderful recordings of her performances. We can admire not only her talent, but also her charm, energy, real Russian character, spirit and freedom. Bravo Anna Netrebko!

UAE Deputy Economy Minister Abdullah Ahmed Mohamed Saleh Al Saleh announced the country's intention to invest in Russian high-tech companies, open their representative offices, develop partnerships in the field of space, medicine, green energy. October 21, 2022.

While some governments invest in development, other governments invest in wars and propaganda.
On October 12, a new National Security Strategy of the United States was published. While the Russian government continues to call the Western government "partners," the U.S. declares Russia a target for destruction under the slogans about democracy.

Russia's policy is to preserve its sovereignty and its own interests. I have not heard the president threaten the United States or Europe in any of his direct speeches. To be honest, Russians in general don't care what happens on the other continent. 99% of Russians have never been to the USA and never will. People care about their own problems. So why are Americans being indoctrinated into some kind of aggression against American people? Can anyone explain to me how the Russians oppress the American people and attack the US democracy?

Also, the White House writes that the United States respects the Russian people and their contributions to science, culture and constructive bilateral relations. This is not true. It has a racist policy towards the Russian people. My 5-year US business visa expired in February 2022. In January I wanted to prolong it at any of the US consulates in Germany where I was working at the time. The U.S. consulate accepted the $160, but at the application stage I indicated that my nationality was Russian, and access to the application was denied because Russia was on the list of banned countries. This was in January 2022.

That $160 was added to my personal savings in U.S. stocks blocked by the US Government, which leads me to believe that I have been ripped off twice because of my nationality. But that's okay. I will contribute to the economy of the Middle East, Russia, and other countries open to entry.

Russia has developed in recent years in spite of sanctions. Very few countries show economic development under sanctions. Despite the ban on free trade and the choice of trading partners in the West, I am confident that Russian businessmen will continue to develop international business and the country's economy.

People who have lived for eight years under fire don't care about the EU recognition. True democracy recognizes referendums. Everyone else - walk away. Welcome home ❤️ RU
